

2024 Illustrator Catalog

Martin Literary Management represents many talented illustrators for children's picture books, graphic novels, and middle grade stories, book covers, and other artistic literary needs. Please contact our literary managers if you are interested in commissioning our artists.

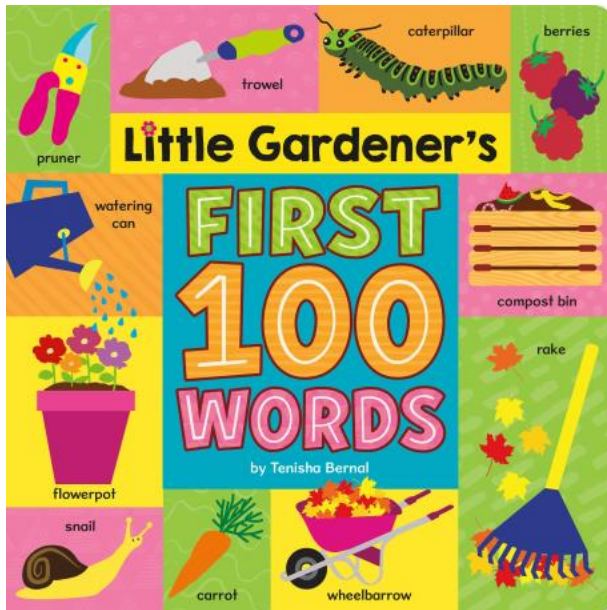

PLEASE SCROLL DOWN

Tina Wehle is an author and visual artist who has published more than fifty works of science fiction and fantasy. Bauer studied English and Film Production at Syracuse University as well as drawing at the University at Buffalo. She lives outside Boston.

Portfolio
Instagram
Facebook
Twitter/X

Tina is represented by Jen Newens.

Tenisha Bernal is an author and freelance graphic designer and a former elementary school art docent who taught herself how to draw by recreating her favorite comic strips from the Sunday paper. Tenisha describes her art as a simple yet fun style for children of any age.

Website
Instagram
Facebook
YouTube

Tenisha is represented by Jen Newens.

Kayla Dean is a graphic novel author, artist, colorist, and illustrator with a background in art education from Tennessee. She is also a crochet enthusiast, and bird mom who spends her days writing, drawing, and absorbing as much visual media as she can.

Portfolio
Instagram

Kayla is represented by Jen Newens.

Stephanie Delorme is an author/illustrator whose love for the Lord influences everything she creates. A delighter in detail, she writes with humor and heart in a way that encourages bonding moments between parent and child. She lives in Southern California with her husband and two daughters.

Portfolio
Instagram
Facebook

Stephanie is represented by Kristen Terrette.

Dakota Drake is a self-taught freelance artist and illustrator. She makes art with acrylic paints, mixed media collages, and digitally. She loves making narrative art that tells beautiful, strange stories full of love and whimsy.

Website
Instagram
Facebook

Dakota is represented by Jen Newens.

Kelsey Mata Foote is an illustrator raised in Southeast Alaska who is deeply influenced by her Tlingit heritage, and immersed in a landscape teeming with wildlife. This enchanting world has been the inspiration for her vibrant artwork and dynamic character design. Kelsey illustrates in both digital and traditional mediums.

Portfolio
Website
Instagram

Kelsey is represented by Jen Newens.

Denise Gallagher is a traditionally published author and illustrator for children. Her work is filled with color, magic and folklore. There, you will often find cheerful characters and unusual animals dancing. And if you listen closely, you can almost hear birds singing to the lyrical tunes floating by.

Portfolio
Website
Instagram
Facebook

Denise is represented by Kristen Terrette.

Jamie Kiemle (they/he) is a nonbinary illustrator who graduated from Syracuse University. They have designed mobile games, illustrated DnD campaigns, and experimented with 3D art and game design. Fairytales, folklore, and myths inspire their practice. Jamie tells inclusive stories exploring gender identity and mental health while promoting fun and learning.

Portfolio
Instagram
Twitter/X

Jamie is represented by Jen Newens.

Deana Sobel Lederman is a published author-illustrator from San Diego. As an illustrator, she has worked with many large institutions, including the Morgan Library & Museum in New York.

Website
Instagram
Facebook
Twitter/X

Deana is represented by Kristen Terrette.

dug Nap is an artist who began his career creating large-scale folk art–style paintings on found pieces of plywood. Today, his prints are sold in 28 shops and galleries around the U.S. He creates in many mediums including oil, acrylic, watercolor, gouache, and with digital tools.

Website
Instagram
Facebook

dug is represented by Jen Newens.

Abigail Paradis is a comic artist and illustrator in Rhode Island with a BFA from the Savannah College of Art and Design. Abbey loves character-driven narratives with familial relationships, strong themes of friendship, and lots of heart. Add a bit of magic and you've got a story they'd love to draw.

Portfolio
Instagram
Twitter/X

Abbey is represented by Jen Newens.

Joe St.Pierre is a writer and artist for Marvel, DC, Image, Valiant, Boom, and IDW, among others. He holds the distinction of penciling the most number-one comic issues featuring Spider-Man and/or the Spider-Man family. St.Pierre also works in commercial illustration, intellectual property design and storyboards.

Portfolio
Instagram
Facebook

Joe is represented by Jen Newens.

Katya Tabakh is an award-winning picture book illustrator and author originally from Russia with a background in animation. Katya illustrates children's books for all ages, from toddlers to young adult readers. She enjoys drawing, painting, and teaching children's arts and crafts.

Website
Instagram
Facebook

Katya is represented by Jen Newens.